

Name	Story
Skeeter	Had some open tanks of water out back. With the stormy hot summer, we were swattin skeeters more than turning wrenches. Even had a bug zapper hangin' from it.
Knuckles	The first Sturgis bike built, busted open knuckles on first bolt.
Buster	The second bike built for Sturgis, broke off a tap in the frame while chasing paint from threads
Tiger	Third bike built for sturgis. Dave Hanlon had read a letter at an employee lunch, from guy named "TIGER" who had met him at a bike event, the letter gave Dave an open invitation to stop in and party. Belle Plaine team mascot tigers, seemed right.
Sassy	Fourth bike for sturgis, one for the ladies, colored tank & fenders.
Drag Queen	Fifth bike for Sturgis. Named by Engineers ? for all the dragon flies that flew in dock doors to eat the skeeters?
Greedy	Named by Engineers after an interesting, Long time, Internet chat character.
Smokey	2:00am Bike, Spilled a little oil when filling.
Lil Bastard	Last bike built for Sturgis. Many LONG nights already put in, you figure it out (?also REBEL James Deans Car?)
War Pig	Bike built for Shaker testing, Raw Parts, no paint, Hand Flamed Gas Tank nuthin pretty but real mean lookin'.
Yogi	First training Bike for production. Frame was built up on a pic-nic table.
Ol'#9	Verified assembly processes, sorta slow like a mule. The newest production parts on her.
Glory	First production Bike off the line, "Road to Glory"
